Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership

The purpose of the HOBY Leadership Conference is to bring together a select group of high school sophomores who have potential or demonstrated leadership ability. This conference is a highly interactive weekend that introduces the student to distinguished leaders of the community from various sectors such as business, technology, education, government, arts, and science. Through intense panel discussions, the student is able to get a realistic look at our nation; its people and your own role within the world community.

Students must complete a 100-word essay on what leadership means to them. See Kira Brown for more information or visit the website at www.hoby.org/wlc
