

ASVAB Testing

The Armed Service Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB) is a multi-aptitude test battery that is administered and scored by the military. The military test administrators then release test results to the school and the student. Participation is optional.

Interpretation of the test results and how the student's aptitude compares with identified interests is a tool to help students make military or non-military career decisions.

Contact Pattie Dack 775-782-5136 x1713